

The earth cooled and life developed. There was music, stories, and mathematics. Then it got too hot again. So that was that.